This book is here to help you understand how to use trains to travel through Europe. It will guide you from the moment that you will start planning your trip, through all the things you have to consider when deciding your route, booking your tickets, finding your way in a train station, enjoying the ride and arriving at a new place. This book encloses many years of experience travelling by trains and is here to pass it to you. Learn how to move smart, find the best deals, understand the rail passes and the other ticket options, trick the search engines, think about issues that wouldn't cross your mind, avoid possible trouble and make the most of your adventure. This is not another tourist guide throwing suggestions about city sightseeing and hotel offers. There are no flashing ads around and "buy now" buttons. There are no "more information" buttons opening in new tabs with scattered information, letting you put the puzzle together. I have been there, I have seen it. I spent many hours trying to understand how things work, using trains, doing mistakes, and learning valuable lessons. However, there is no need to reinvent the wheel. Get the experience provided in this book and do not start as a beginner (or a "tourist" as they say). Read it through chapter-by-chapter, skip chapters, find what you are looking for in the table of contents or go front and back and read whatever attracts your attention. There are no rules. At the end of the story, you cannot get lost. It is a book.

The bibliography volume of the three-volume East Looks West: East European Travel Writing in Europe collates travel writing published in book form by east Europeans travelling in Europe from ca. 1550 to 2000. It is intended as a fundamental research tool, collecting together travel writings within each national/linguistic tradition, and enabling comparative analysis of such material. It fills an important gap in the existing reference literature, both in western and east European languages, and will be of use to those working in the growing fields of comparative travel writing, regional and national identities, and postcolonialism. These texts exist in surprisingly large numbers, and include writings of high literary quality as well as of historical interest, but they have been relatively little studied as a genre. Much of this material is rare and difficult to find, even in national libraries. As a result, there are few bibliographical surveys of the literature of east European travel and self-representation, and none that are region-wide or comparative in scope. This is the third volume of a three-part set of East Looks West, Vol. 1 - An Anthology of East European Travel Writing on Europe; and Vol. 2 - A Comparative Introduction to East European Travel Writing on Europe.

In this volume, the authors of many acclaimed books on style, including the Essence of Style books turn their attentions to the lands east of the Danube, and create Mittel Europa - an imaginary country with a gloriously real tradition of architecture and design. This is the heart of the old Austro-Hungarian Empire, and its major cities are Vienna, Prague and Budapest - undoubtedly among the world's most beautiful. We travel with the authors to these quintessential Old World cities and the magnificent countryside to discover in the architecture, interiors and folk arts of the region a thriving design tradition that the 20th century once threatened to extinguish, but that now promises to enrich the decorative arts throughout the World.

The Reader's Guide to Judaism is a survey of English-language translations of the most important primary texts in the Jewish tradition. The field is assessed in some 470 essays discussing individuals (Martin Buber, Gluckel of Hameln), literature (Genesis, Ladino Literature), thought and beliefs (Holiness, Bioethics), practice (Dietary Laws, Passover), history (Venice, Baghdadi Jews of India), and arts and material culture (Synagogue Architecture, Costume). The emphasis is on Judaism, rather than on Jewish studies more broadly.
